HIGH LIFE DIVORCE

Dr. D. D. Crowley's Wife Wants One.

FINDS ANOTHER WOMAN INTIMATE WITH HER HUSBAND

And Packs Up Her Belongings and Leaves the Home of Her Husband.

Divorce in High Life.

Mrs. Crowley, the wife of Dr. D. D. Crowley, one of the leading physicians of Oakland, a leading clubman, who is one of the members of the San Francisco Club, a member of the Bohemian Club, and the owner of several fine horses, has commenced suit against her husband for a divorce on the grounds of adultery and cruelty.

Dr. Crowley probably receives the largest income from his practice of any physician in Oakland, and he lives in fine style at his elegant home on Alice street. He keeps a coachman and a retinue of servants, and his wife has always had carte blanche for anything she desired.

The couple are well known, and were always first nighters at the Macdonough theatre, where they always attracted a great deal of attention.

Mrs. Crowley is a musician of no mean ability and has always held a strong position among the 400 of Oakland society.

Both the doctor and his wife have figured before in the divorce courts and the cause was identical with the present case, only that with these parties it was reversed.

Some four years ago Mrs. Crowley was the wife of Hugo Mansfield, the well known musician, and at that time she was a patient of Dr. Crowley. Her husband thought that she frequented the office of Dr. Crowley far more than was necessary, so one evening he, in company with an officer, went to the doctor's office and found his wife there. There were some hot words between him and the doctor but the presence of an officer prevented any trouble at the time, and he took his wife home. The matter was kept very quiet for a few days but at the end of that time Dr. Crowley met Mansfield on the street and proceeded to thrash him with his cane. This, of course, got into the papers and Dr. Crowley's wife at once commenced divorce proceedings and was granted a divorce. Mansfield commenced proceedings also against his wife and was granted a divorce.

After Crowley had become freed of his wife and Mrs. Mansfield of her husband, through the divorce courts, they were married and have lived very happy to all appearances ever since.

Two handsome children, one three years of age and one 8 months old have blessed their union.

From what can be learned, Mrs. Crowley has suspected for some little time that her husband has not been true to her and on Tuesday evening last, having reason to believe that her husband and his new love were together, she suddenly slipped into his office, and what she saw there convinced her that she could no longer be a wife to her husband, so she went home and packed up her things and with her children removed to the Hotel Metropole. Yesterday she hired up an attorney whom she authorized to commence divorce proceedings.

Mutual friends are trying to settle the matter and have the couple kiss and make up, but thus far Mrs. Crowley has refused all overtures of peace.

The Son Consents.

In the case of the People vs. Albert Menzemeier, who shot John Perkins at Lorin last Christmas day, Attorney A. A. Moore, Sr., is counsel for the defendant, and was represented by his clerk who requested a continuance. Deputy District Attorney A. A. Moore, Jr., appeared for the people. When the father's request for a continuance was presented, Judge Greene turned to the son and asked: "Do you consent?" The son consented and the case went over. The civil suit of Perkins against Menzemeier for $10,000 damages will probably be compromised.

Attention Voters:

A grand mass meeting will be held tomorrow evening at the Mills Tabernacle, corner of Twelfth and Webster streets, Oakland, which will be addressed by Susan B. Anthony and Rev. Anna Shaw and prominent politicians. There will also be good music. The admission will be free.

Voters, you must inform yourselves on this important question of giving women a vote.

The constitutional amendment enfranchising the female population will be voted on in November. Everyone who is disposed to see fair play wants to hear both sides. Go, and tell your friends to hear what the great leaders on this question have to say.

Snowwhite Tomorrow Night.

The operetta "Snowwhite and the Seven Dwarfs," so successfully given March 13th, will be repeated tomorrow evening, March 27th, in the Shattuck Hall.

For the purpose of enabling all the children in town to see this beautiful operetta, the price of admission for the young folks has been placed at 15 cents, and for adults 25 cents.

A selected chorus from the U. C. Glee Club will greatly add to the attraction of the entertainment.

The combination of beautiful music, brilliant costumes, charming stage scenes, and the seven lively dwarfs, is worth many times the price of admission, and a large attendance is an assured fact.

Joseph Morgan's horse got loose yesterday while the owner was at dinner, and succeeded in breaking the shaft of the wagon before he was captured.

The late Joseph B. Ashworth was buried yesterday from his late residence on Fourth and Bristol streets, by the Butchers' Aid Association.

THE FIRE BELL

Makes a Great Deal of Noise for a Very Small Fire.

Chimney on Fire.

At about 11 o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was sounded at West Berkeley which caused the department to respond at once, and repair to the scene of the fire, which proved to be in a chimney at the house of Mrs. Donohue on Fourth street.

Both the Beacon and Posen companies responded but the fire was put out without their assistance. There was no damage done.

We were informed this morning that at a meeting held last evening by the Butchers' Aid Society, it was decided that the Association would look after the wants of Mrs. Ashworth and her children, and see that they will not want for anything. We are pleased to learn that the widow and orphans have been thus provided for.

Two carloads of machinery for the new glass works arrived in West Berkeley this morning. Several carloads more will arrive this week, and which the work of setting up the machinery starting up the works.

At about 5:30 last evening rain began to fall, and it kept up without intermission all through the evening. Several heavy showers were followed by light ones, and the things are that the storm will be very heavy during the evening. The storm was predicted by Deputy Marshal Fred Rawson, who says that it will be the heaviest one of the season.

GATHERED BY EVER-BUSY NEWS GATHERERS.

Comprising News of the State Un- iversity and Affairs of General Importance.

President Kellogg of the University, together with Professor Strangham and Professor Slate, left yesterday for Los Angeles to attend the fifth annual session of the Southern California Teachers Association. They will be away for the remainder of the week.

There will be a mass meeting of all the laboring organizations of Berkeley in Pythian Hall next Monday night. The call has been issued by President Langlais of the Carpenters' Union and is to discuss the recent painters' strike in San Francisco.

The Bacon company at the Oakland this week in "A Pair of Rebels" is confirming the previous good opinions of the public. The play is a stirring military drama abounding in sensational interest. It is one that strongly appeals to the old soldiers.

The class in English, comedy under the instruction of L. L. Syle of the University are soon to give a performance of Congrove's comedy, "Love for Love." It has been arranged and revised by Mr. Syle. The proceeds are to be given to the Athletic Association.

The Philosophical Union will meet Friday evening at North Hall. The topic will be "Kant's Doctrine of Freedom, and his arguments for immortality and for God, and Watson's criticism of Kant." The paper will be read by Dr. E. L. Hinman. Francis Dunn and William Nat Friend will open the discussion.

John R. Perkins, who sued Albert Menzemeier for $10,000 damages, for injuries growing out of a shooting affray last December, has compromised his claim and yesterday the suit was dismissed. There is a criminal charge pending against Menzemeier.

The population of Berkeley is increasing fast in the natural way. It is quite necessary for parents to need baby carriages. Now, you can obtain what you want in this line at the store of Walter Meese, 907 Washington street, Oakland, at prices from $2.50 to $25. We know all about it, for we have been there, and made a note of the fact. He has among a store full of housekeeping goods, a carpet-sweeper that a baby can use.

The Standard Soap Company, of West Berkeley, manufactures as many kinds and of as good quality of soap as any factory in the world. With their goods in the market, none should patronize foreign manufacture. The concern is very large one, and turns out an immense quantity of soap every year. It is home support that builds up institutions of this kind, here, and it is a turn enables many and many a family to live comfortably.

Several Supervisors are of the opinion that the office of County License Tax Collector, now held by James V. Ballard, is jeopardized because of a decision of the Supreme Court made yesterday in a Ventura county case. The Court said county tax collectors were required to collect licenses. Ballard has held the office for two years. The Supervisors at their next meeting will probably discharge him.

The Big C. is hereafter to be worn only by College athletes who have broken records or defended the University in some intercollegiate contest. President Hirst of the Athletic Association has been authorized to make the awards. This will be done at the meeting of the Associated Students next Monday, when that body meets to sanction the proposition of the trackmen to send the team East. There are sixty-three big "C's" to be given out.

Charles White went over into Contra Costa county on Friday last on a hunting expedition and got badly poisoned with poison oak, which caused his face to swell up so that he could not see. Not being near where he could get any medical attendance, he used a bottle of Gazingo's Electric Shampoo, which

THE CONTEST LIVELY

Mrs. Wilkes Leads Today by a Large Number.

MISS HAMLIN IS SECOND AND MISS SQUIRES THIRD.

The Contest Among the Boys Get- ting Spirited Several of Them Now Canvassing.

It Is Booming.

The friends of the teachers in Berkeley are becoming excited and interested over the contest for the most popular teacher and each day sees the contest more exciting. Every mill brings coupons to this office and large numbers of boys and girls are constantly visiting the office with coupons for their favorite teachers.

Yesterday Miss Hamlin headed the list having 45 votes more than the next in line, Mrs. Wilkes. Today the friends of Mrs. Wilkes have rallied to her support and she heads the list with 703 votes. It has been a game of see-saw between these two teachers for several days. First one is in the lead and then the other. In the meantime several other teachers are forging their way to the head of the list and will soon do battle royal with those who are now so far in the lead.

The fight has only just begun, however, and someone whose name has not yet been mentioned may be in the lead in a short time. Every teacher has her friends and before the contest is over they will be doing all in their power to win the prize for their favorite. So much interest has been taken thus far in the contest which is only a week old that any person with half an eye can tell that it will be one of the greatest contests ever known in Berkeley before it ends.

It is not only the children who are voting in this contest, but the grown folks. They too, have their favorites, and are cutting the coupons out of the paper and sending them in.

As we said before, the coupons are not only brought in by children and grown folks, but they come by mail too.

Here is a letter that came by mail today:

EDITOR GAZETTE—Enclosed find eight coupons, which you will publish in favor of my teacher, Mrs. Wilkes, of the San Pablo avenue school, and oblige your little friend.

JIMMIE MULLHOLLAND,
1609 Fifth St., WEST BERKELEY.

We expect to get many such letters from our little friends before the contest is over, and we will be pleased to receive them, for it is not only a pleasure to us, but also to the teacher to know which of her little friends are working for her.

In the bicycle, shotgun and other prize contests, the contestants are rapidly increasing, and the subscriptions are piling up. It shows our advertisers the number of new subscribers that are being added to our list each day. We expect to increase our list several hundred before the contest is over, and know that we shall do so. The GAZETTE has three times as many subscribers now as when we started publishing.

We want more for we are publishing a first class newspaper that is replete with local and general news. Once a person subscribes for the GAZETTE they cannot do without it, and we are taking this prize contest as a means of introducing it into every household in Berkeley.

All the boys and girls who have not now got blanks to canvass with can obtain the same either at our office in East Berkeley or at the West Berkeley office.

Boys and girls in Lorin or Golden Gate, who wish blanks can have the same mailed to them by sending their names and address to this office.

It Is Said.

That if you don't take the GAZETTE you are not in the swim.

That Mr. Knickerbarker, a candidate for Supervisor of this district, was in town today looking after his forces.

That we want all the boys and girls in Berkeley to take a hand in the contest for the GAZETTE prizes.

Pred. Dawson's prediction that the present storm would be the hardest and most severe that had been experienced this season is evidently being verified, judging from the way the wind is howling at the time of going to press.

New Improvements.

Messrs. Ramos & Renas, the popular coal and feed dealers of West Berkeley have plenty of faith in Berkeley and well they may. A few months ago they commenced to advertise in the GAZETTE, and they say that from that day until the present time their business has been increasing. It has now reached such proportions that they are compelled to enlarge their quarters at the corner of Eighth and Addison streets, and also to put in a set of scales. A force of workmen are not engaged in doing the necessary work.

A LITTLE WEARY.

The Co-Eds Don't Like to be Put on Short Rations.

Tired of Training Diet.

The Berkeley co-eds are weary of training and tired of the life of an athlete. The denials they have made in the way of "accustomed delicacies" are proving too much of a sacrifice, and they long to return to the old regime and leave the honors of the basketball floor to their cardinal sisters. In the enthusiasm and excitement resulting from the acceptance of the challenge to play basketball with Stanford they were willing to agree almost anything. Now the stern reality has come and they find it tedious almost beyond endurance.

Nevertheless they are sticking bravely to their task and eschew all articles of food tabooed by training rules. Manager Brownell has still another fault to find. She can put up with the stringent training diet, but objects to the publicity the players get. She will not manage the team next year, but will see it through the game this year, now that the gauntlet has been thrown to Stanford. Professor Magee says the Berkeley players are rapidly becoming a strong team, and will give Stanford a hard game.

May Not Land.

New York, March 26.—Commissioner Booth-Tucker sailed from Liverpool for America yesterday. He and Mrs. Booth-Tucker started by the St. Louis last Saturday, but received news of the serious illness of their youngest child. Mrs. Booth-Tucker was so ill that she could not leave the steamer, so she continued her voyage, while her husband returned to care for the child, which has materially improved.

It is just possible that Mrs. Booth-Tucker may not be permitted to land in New York. It was reported yesterday that an attempt would be made to prevent both Mr. and Mrs. Booth-Tucker from landing, it being held that they come here, contrary to law, as alien contract laborers. Those who object to Mr. and Mrs. Booth-Tucker coming cite the case of Rev. Dr. Walpole Warren, who a few years ago came here from England, to become the pastor of Holy Trinity Church.

It was decided in Dr. Warren's case that he was liable to the provisions of the law, and Holy Trinity had to pay a fine of $1000 for importing a preacher. It is held that either Mr. and Mrs. Booth-Tucker come here as contract laborers, or else they must admit that they are in the employ of an English religious organization to do missionary work in this country.

The Nile War.

London, Mar. 26.—A dispatch from Cairo says that at the meeting of the Egyptian Public Debt Commission, held for the purpose of discussing the matter of granting £500,000 from the reserve fund to meet the expenses of the expedition up the Nile valley, the Russian and French members of the Commission lodged a protest against such action and withdrew from the meeting.

Cairo, March 26.—The Egyptian Public Debt Commission has decided to advance from the reserve fund £500,000 asked by the Government for the cost of the Nile expedition, £200,000 to be furnished immediately.

Telegraphers to Strike.

Philadelphia, March 26.—The Western Union telegraph operators in this city are agitating a general strike which, it is said, is to extend over the whole country.

The company is superseding its union employees with non-union people, and the former claim that is only a move in the direction of lower wages. Hence they are in readiness to desert their instruments at a moment's notice. The introduction of non-union telegraphers, it is claimed, is an attempt to break down the union.

An Inventor's Suicide.

Patterson, N. J., March 26.—Major Edward Leslie, a well-known inventor, committed suicide today by taking morphine. His wife and family are in Canada. A suit growing out of an infringement of a patent was recently decided against Leslie and made him melancholy.

Thirty Tons of Cable.

A new cable for the San Pablo avenue line arrived in Oakland at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. It was brought to Seventh and Broadway on a flat car, and the work of transferring it to a truck to transport it to the power house was undertaken. It was by no means an easy task, and required the services of forty men and fifty horses. The cable is 29,500 feet long, and is said to be the longest continuous cable in the United States. It weighs 45 tons and cost $8000.

The order for the cable was placed with a San Francisco firm last Friday, and was completed in four days.

An Apology.

EDITOR GAZETTE.—Permit me, through the columns of your valuable paper, to say that I sincerely regret my mistake, and am very sorry for the unpleasant notoriety thus thrust upon Mrs. Clara M. Partridge. But it was not through any ill will on my part, but a chain of unfortunate circumstances that forced the conclusion. Hoping she and others will endeavor to forget that it happened I remain yours respectfully, Judge Greene had a small female mite of humanity before him yesterday named Rubina Reed. WAS NOT A JOKE.

So Thought Mr. Casey Who Tried to Play One.

Risked Life for a Laugh.

A tragedy was narrowly averted at a late hour last night when a man named Casey attempted to play a practical joke upon his friend, Baptist Cotti, who conducts a saloon at the corner of Thirteenth and Center streets, West Oakland.

Casey came running into the barroom at 11 o'clock, disguised with a false beard, and flourishing a six-shooter in each hand. He demanded that Cotti produce his cash, and emphasized matters by stamping up and down the room, stringing out such oaths as he thought fitted the occasion. Cotti said he would comply, and got down behind the counter, presumably to bring out his money, but, instead, produced a bulldog revolver which he leveled at the terrified Casey.

There were several loungers in the place, but none offered resistance. All scrambled madly to get out of the way of harm. The trigger of Cotti's weapon went up, and the figure of Casey sank down upon the floor.

"Don't shoot! Don't shoot!" he cried. "I am only Casey. This is a joke," and he tore the beard from his face in time to convince his furious friend that he was really not a robber.

Casey became sick with fright, and Cotti declares that that is the last practical joke he ever carries to indulgence in.
